“ I had many fond memories of my dad Orvan Alcorn & Bunno hauling wood with the cat from the wooded area in the back of the farm. I just remember this bear of a man with his beard and his laugh, I loved going out there, and trying to outrun his dogs on my motorbike, they sure didn't like that sound. I just remember this hard working man and how he loved his family, when the old barn burnt, and the loss of one of his children, the many times sitting around the table listening to the stories he told. And the things he did no one ever dared to do. He wasn't afraid to stand up to anyone and if he thought he was right you didn't change his mind. You knew where you stood with him and if you screwed up he told you so. But I don't ever remember feeling afraid around him, you knew he could take care of you, and I admired his courage and you will find few men who could even come close to filling his shoes and the respect they had for him. Thanks for being a good friend to my dad, you will be missed. I know its to late to say it to you thank you Bunno, but I wanted your family to know . Sincerly Lawrence Alcorn
