“ Caren was my older sister. I have some good memories of our early childhood when we lived on Truckey St. in St. Ignace. We sometimes played with Sally and Brenda Quance who lived across from the tennis court. Once when we attended Brenda's birthday in her backyard her hair caught fire when she leaned over to blow out the candles. Great party! One of my earliest memories is when Caren and I and some other kids were sitting on a lumber pile behind the Quance house. A bird had died. A robin I think. I was asked to say a prayer. I recited the Humpty Dumpty nursery rhyme instead. Caren explained that it wasn't a prayer. I recall her playing house with her dolls and one of those tin doll houses girls had back then, sitting on the floor at the foot of her bed. When we grew older we went our separate ways and didn't stay in touch very much. My condolences to her extended family. I see she has a big herd of grandkids! Dan Olmstead.
