“ So many of my fondest childhood memories of going to the UP are of staying at her family home. They are of us girls staying up late and giggle through the night . Her and Vic June and I. I remember even staying at Grandmas when I was a teenager ,just so I could walk up and spend time with them. I wanted to so badly to stop off to see her this past summer when I was up their. I had a gut feeling that this would be my last chance. And I am kicking my self for not going. She was so much fun she never mixed words she could take a joke but you better watch out she was going to get you back. Her laughter, her smile is in my mind I will truly miss her.
