“ I miss you Donny. I'm sorry I couldn't come to your funeral, my family never heard the date. I'm sorry for all the times I was rude to you, it wasn't your fault. You looked after me and that meant a lot. I still have the drawing you made in my art book. You were gone too soon, I never got the chance to be a better friend for you. But I hope that wherever you are, you are at peace. If anyone deserves it, it's you. I have visited that blue and white house every chance I've had since you died (which isn't very many, because I don't have a car). I don't know why I keep coming back other than that it somehow feels like you'll still be there. I keep thinking you'll be sitting on the porch having a beer, or that I'll be able to hear you watching hockey inside. I still have the quilt you and your mom made me. I was a kid and out of town when you passed away but I still think about you all the time. I think you'd be happy to hear that I'm a much better student now than I was when you knew me, and part of that is cause of you. You meant a lot to me, and I hope you knew it. I think you did. You taught me what being neighbors really means.

“ I will forever miss you. I will miss your smile and laughter and your "wiggle hugs". Your love for your family and children and your ability to befriend all people, your laugh and all of our travels to the lakes and woods. I will also miss you playing your guitar and us making up lyrics and laughing. I know you are in the best place to be and will keep you and the family in my thoughts and prayers always. I love you Donny Ray Burt!
