If there is one thing that I learned at your service was what an amazing strong smart caring woman you were.. I am soo glad that I take after you in that way. I truly have been blessed with great people in my life as you did as well.. I am so glad you are not suffering anymore mom. But I am very thankful for being there to hold your hand and make sure you didn't feel alone or scared...

I can't wait for the day to see you again.. xoxo

“ Oh no. That wonderful hearty contagious laugh has gone to heaven. I knew how sick she was, how hard the past few years have been, and yet the shock and loss are hard to bear. I cannot imagine how you must feel - Trisha and Tina - and the grands too. You are all in my thoughts and I'm hoping you'll find peace and comfort in the memories of happy times. I will miss her too.

“ So sorry to hear about JP. Her last email was somewhat hopeful and I'm shocked to hear. JP was such a special person and I know she will be missed. She loved her family! Having known her and working with her directly at BAS made me a better person. I still to this day use a saying of hers when "we" is used in conversation: "you got a mouse in your pocket". To all family members my deepest sympathy.

“ A Message of Sympathy and Hope

When somebody dies, a cloud turns into an angel and flies up to tell God to put another flower on a pillow. A bird gives the message back to the world and sings a silent prayer that makes the rain cry...

People disappear, but they never really go away. The spirits up there put the sun to bed, wake up the grass, and spin the earth in dizzy circles. Sometimes you can see them dancing in a cloud during the daytime when they're supposed to be sleeping.

They paint the rainbows and also the sunsets and make waves splash and tug at the tide. They toss shooting stars and listen to wishes. And when they sing windsongs, they whisper to us,

"Don't miss me too much. The view is nice, and I doing just fine."
