“ They don't make them any better than Joe. A hard working man, with true Integrity. Joe and I started our careers in LE together, fought together, bled together, and learned how/what we were really doing in LE together. Joe was always the voice of reason to me. I still feel Joe's impact on my life. Although we were not around each other later in our lives a whole lot, I have always considered him my friend. I will miss him greatly.
