

Judson Granger Brown

July 19, 1921 - September 15, 2017

Judson Granger Brown, age 96, of Cedarville, Michigan, died peacefully on Friday, September 15, 2017, at Cedar Cove Assisted Living in Cedarville. He was born July 19, 1921, in Ann Arbor, Michigan, to George Granger and Dorothy Martin Brown.

Jud was a chemical engineer, inventor, sailor, barbershop quartet member, tough on power tools, and a lifetime member of the Clean Plate Club. He was proud to say he was a nonconformist and captain of his own ship, and if you offered him a ride in your boat, he would gladly take a turn at the helm.

Jud was happily married to Marjorie Sprague Brown for 68 years before she died on November 15, 2016. He and Marjorie retired to their vacation property in Cedarville in 1982, where they remained active in many local charitable organizations.

Jud is survived by five children and their families, Diane Cosby, Randy Brown, Lynn Hogg, Susan Caldbeck, and Donald Brown; ten grandchildren; and eight great grandchildren.

A quiet family service is planned for next summer.

“ *Judd was like a father to me , we a great journey together learning listen to Gods nudges.
I learned of unconditional love that Judd gave me.
This is a hug lose and deep pain of loosing such a valuable irreplaceable man!
This journey with Judd has been a blessing.
I know Judd is in heaven singing in the chore I hope and out of tune but giving god all his glory!
Good bye foe now dear friend ! Till we meet again.*
