“ Maxine was a great friend of mine. We met while living in Traverse City. Love this memory of her. We worked for the USDA counting cherries to determine how the crop would be for the year. Maxine was afraid of heights. We had to use a ladder, well, Maxine climb the tree and panicked and couldn't come down. I had to climb the same ladder and be right behind her before she could move. I will always remember this. It was so funny! We both had a good laugh. Loved her.
