READY, MOM Today we go to wash your body And comb your beautiful hair We will hug and kiss you, Mother Whilst wondering life is so unfair We will stroke your beautiful face And kiss you on your cheek We will sit there and wonder, Mother Why life suddenly looks so bleak. We will be strong and brave, Mother As we say our final goodbye. But don't forget, my darling Mother, We will see you in the big blue sky Oh how we love and miss you. No one can really understand How we want to hug and kiss you, And hold your beautiful hand. We just don't want you to go, Mother I want you to stay with me, But we know that's not possible, Mother As you are now happy and pain free. We love you today and forever, Mom We hope that you are at ease. We will see you again, Mom. God just look after her, please.

“ So very sorry to hear of Marilyn's passing. Even though we went our separate ways following graduation, I will always remember her as a very sweet, very quiet girl who had a very big heart. I attended both St. Mary's and Loretto High School with her so we go a long way back. Rest in peace Marilyn. Job well done.
