Speaking ill of someone who has passed away, you'll get what you deserve too. God doesn't like ugly!

Omg who are you to judge that only will bring you karma ten folds. His actions when under the influence of whatever doesn't define the person he was. Nobody deserves to be judged by anyone but God. Really pisses me off to see the ignorance of some people especially his obituary. May God have mercy on your soul as I bet you believe your so perfect. Have respect for his family and the friends who loved and cared for him and saw the good he had in his heart as every one suffers from some kind of mental illness and addiction. How dare you be so ugly as Lisa Mabry stated. Do you know respect I see you don't how would you feel if someone nasty person like yourself did that to one of your family members on their obituary. This is to honor the person he was regardless of the horrible circumstances that addiction has caused. He still had a heart of gold. Be careful with what you put out there because when you speak ill of another it comes back ten folds Janet!!!

“ Rest easy cousin no more pain no more worries, we will always be reminded of you through all the hard work and help that you have provided to family and friends. Now it's time for your children to carry on ur name and legacy for you. I can recall a few times when I stayed at ur house and I would ride shoot-gun while you delivered pizza's, absolutely great times, and definitely priceless memories Til we meet again, fly high with them angel's
