

Shelia Mae Dawson

September 30, 1951 - June 12, 2012

Shelia Mae Walker Dawson, age 60, of Parker City Indiana, died Tuesday June 12, 2012, in Sault Ste. Marie, Michigan. She was born September 30, 1951 to Jesse T. Walker and Edna Mae (Vandenplas) Walker in Muncie Indiana. Shelia grew up in Muncie and graduated from Muncie South Side High School. After high school Shelia started her family and moved with her son and daughter to the family farm in Parker City, Indiana. She worked as a department manager for a large department store in Muncie, until 2004, when she retired for health reasons. Shelia enjoyed spending time with her grandchildren, painting, flower gardening, reading, traveling, and she loved animals of all kinds. She often took in strays and found them homes. She especially loved spending time with her partner, Jerry Morgan, in the Les Cheneaux Islands of Cedarville, Michigan. She and Jerry loved to boat and she always referred to herself as the "first mate", the one who did all the work getting the boat ready for sea. Her life ended in one of her favorite places on earth. Shelia is survived by Jerry Morgan, son Scott Gene (Julie) Meyer of Venice Florida, and daughter Tammy Mae (John) Hanson of Burlington, Kentucky. She is also survived by her grandchildren, Kayla Meyer, Emma Hanson, Caroline Hanson, and Liam Hanson. She is further survived by two brothers, Frederick (Dotty) Walker, of Great Falls, Montana, Jesse E. (Peggy) Walker, of Bismarck, North Dakota, and sister Diann (Jim) Hunt of Fort Wayne, Indiana. Shelia was preceded in death by her parents. A memorial service will be held for Shelia at the Parker City United Methodist Church at 305 South Main Street, in Parker City, Indiana at 5:00 P.M. Thursday, June 21, 2012. Interment will be at Mt. Tabor Cemetery near Selma, Indiana at a later date.
