“ Rich and family, we lost someone so special. Wayne had his moments but his kindness and strong will was his asset. My heart hurts so bad..that strong will was very hard on him for six days but now he can rest. He can now breath, move as fast as he wants, maybe even whistle or how about humming like he use to do. My tears flow because of my self pity my heart rejoices that Wayne is now free from the physical body that tormented him for a few years. Loved Wayne so much hope he's having a great time with the others.
